KEY REASONS TO INVEST

- To generate an attractive yield that has historically been meaningfully greater than dividends or interest from broad North American equities and bonds.
- The complexity of the preferred share market calls for specialized, active management and presents compelling upside potential for a manager able to properly identify market dislocations.
- Benefit from portfolio manager, John Shaw's extensive expertise and specialization in preferred shares and investment grade bonds

FUND OVERVIEW

Actively managed by Signature Global Asset Management, this ETF aims to generate an attractive income stream with the opportunity for capital appreciation by investing primarily in North American preferred shares. New issues with varied and complex features makes the preferred share market a challenging one to navigate for the average investor. The portfolio manager's deep understanding of this market means the ETF is well placed to capitalize on market dislocations and add long-term value.
