RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets increased by $25.7 million to $86.7 million from December 31, 2017 to June 30, 2018. The Fund had net sales of $24.7 million for the period. The Fund paid distributions totalling $0.5 million while the portfolio's performance increased assets by $1.5 million. Common Units returned 2.4% after fees and expenses for the six-month period ended June 30, 2018. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned 2.8%. The benchmark is the Morningstar® Developed Markets ex-North America Target Momentum Index™ Hedged to CAD. Please refer to the "Past Performance" section which outlines the performance of the Fund's other units of securities.

The Fund's variance versus the benchmark is largely attributable to timing around corporate actions or the reinvestment of dividends and other trading, as well as Fund expenses. The performance data for the Index assumes the reinvestment of all distributions.

U.S. equity markets were volatile during the first half of 2018, with sizeable swings in both directions. Investors weighed supportive economic data and corporate earnings on one hand, against the prospect of resurgent inflation, trade policy uncertainty and other geopolitical issues on the other. The Canadian market, while still positive, did underperform, with the S&P/TSX Composite Index having a total return of 2.0% for the first half of 2018. Canadian consumer spending slowed to 1.1% in the first quarter of 2018 amid rising interest rates. However, stronger U.S. demand, higher oil prices and federal infrastructure spending should support growth in the second half of the year.

While underlying global growth remained solid, financial markets remained focused on risks. An escalation of the trade war was looking increasingly likely, as the U.S. threatened further tariffs, and China promised to reciprocate. Uncertainty surrounding the U.K.'s exit from the European Union has undermined U.K. growth and could slow the European economy. In Italy, a coalition government of two populist parties with plans to expand fiscal policy through tax cuts and spending increases has raised concerns about the country's high public debt. More recently, the European Central Bank ("ECB") declared its intention to wind down asset purchases over the remainder of the year. The ECB anticipates the current monthly pace of €30 billion will be halved in October and then completely ceased at the end of the year. On a more positive note, North and South Korea have agreed to a denuclearization deal.

On the interest rate front, the U.S. Federal Reserve Board ("the Fed") raised the federal funds rate by 25 basis points ("bps") twice in the first half of 2018 and indicated that it expects to raise interest rates four times during the year. To justify the changes in the expected interest rate path, the Fed upgraded its growth and core inflation forecasts for 2018, while expecting the unemployment rate to continue to decline. The U.S. 10-year bond yield ended June at 2.9%, climbing up from 2.4% at the beginning of January. In the middle of January, the Bank of Canada ("BoC") raised interest rates on strong economic data. It was the BoC's third increase since last summer, following increases in July and September of 2017. While the BoC signaled that more interest rate increases are likely over time, it highlighted the potentially negative impacts related to the outcome of North American Free Trade Agreement negotiations.

Exposure to the consumer discretionary, materials and consumer staples sectors contributed the most to the Fund's performance from a sector perspective. These allocations contributed 215 bps, 171 bps and 153 bps, respectively, to performance. The top individual contributors to the Fund's performance were Burford Capital Ltd. (73 bps), Goldwin Inc. (62 bps) and Howden Joinery Group PLC (61 bps).

The weakest performance by sector came from the telecommunication services, financials and information technology sectors, which detracted 16 bps, 72 bps and 146 bps, respectively, from performance. Holdings in Fidessa Group PLC (-47 bps), 3I Group PLC (-45 bps) and Shindengen Electric Manufacturing Co. Ltd. (-33 bps) were individual detractors from the Fund's performance.

Any changes in Fund's holdings were related to Index rebalancing activity. Portfolios are obtained from Morningstar and rebalanced as per their direction with respect to constituents and weights. The Fund's management fee is 60 bps.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

First Asset believes that global growth should stay strong at an above-trend pace, though at a lesser pace than in 2017. U.S. economic data continues to show signs of strength, with gross domestic product ("GDP") expected to grow 2.9% for the year, up from 2.3% in 2017. The Institute for Supply Management's reading of 60.2 is a sign of robust expansion, with payrolls up and wage pressure moderating. Corporate earnings in North America have remained robust so far this year and look to do so in the upcoming earnings season. Economic data in North America remains strong, particularly with respect to job growth, but there have been early signs of inflation. In Europe, GDP growth slows as the cycle matures and capacity constraints emerge. Concerns around inflation, tightening monetary policy and a potential trade war will likely keep some investors on the sidelines. Commodities have also begun to improve, with both energy and metals pricing on the rise. Equities are expected to perform well and should see relatively better performance in more pro-growth cyclical sectors, such as consumer discretionary, information technology, financials and energy.

The Fed will likely continue to raise interest rates by 50 bps before year end and is expected to continue into next year. Financial markets have priced in at least two more rate increases by the BoC before February 2019. Further interest rate increases should result in higher bond yields, putting negative pressure on bond prices.

Effective April 1, 2018, Stuart Hensman became a member of the Independent Review Committee ("IRC") of the Fund. Meanwhile, Carl Solomon resigned from the role as a member of the IRC.

Notes:

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim and audited annual financial statements. The term "net assets" used in this report and the term "net assets attributable to holders of redeemable securities" used in the Fund's financial statements are interchangeable.

(2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period.

(3) Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional securities of the Fund.

(4) This is not a reconciliation of the beginning and ending net assets per security.

(5) This information is provided as at June 30, 2018 and December 31 of the year shown.

(6) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund in which the Fund has invested and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

(7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively First Asset manages the Fund's portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

(8) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund in which the Fund has invested. The Fund may charge a fee to designated brokers/dealers to offset the impact of certain transaction costs associated with a purchase or redemption of a prescribed number of securities of the Fund. The transaction costs used in the trading expense ratio have been reduced by these fees.

(9) Closing market price.
