RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund's net assets increased by $12.4 million to $151.9 million from December 31, 2018 to June 30, 2019. The Fund had net sales of $3.5 million for the period. The Fund paid distributions totalling $4.7 million while the portfolio's performance increased assets by $13.6 million. The Fund returned 9.8% after fees and expenses for the six-month period ended June 30, 2019. Over the same time period, the Fund's benchmark returned 10.8%. The Fund's benchmark is the S&P/TSX Equal Weight Diversified Banks Total Return Index.

The Fund employs a near-the-money covered call overlay strategy on approximately 25% of the holdings of each portfolio issuer. In a flat (or down) market, this strategy allows the Fund to outperform the benchmark by generating additional income from options that are not exercised before expiry.

During the first half of 2019, global equity markets rebounded after a sharp sell-off at the end of 2018. Fears of trade wars and a slowing economy provoked concern in investors at times, and led to an equity market correction in May. However, for the most part, investors focused on more cautious central banks and declining bond yields. The Canadian equity market, as measured by the S&P/TSX Composite Index, rose 16.2%, while the U.S. equity market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, gained 17.4%.

At the beginning of the year, investors had been anticipating a couple of interest rate increases by the U.S. Federal Reserve Board ("Fed") in 2019. However, early in the year, it was clear that these increases would not come to fruition, and by the second quarter of 2019, there was discussion of possibly two to three interest rate cuts by year-end. The Fed appeared willing to do whatever it could to extend the business cycle, as inflation remains subdued despite extremely tight labour markets. Bond yields responded to the change in Fed's tone, with 10-year U.S. Treasury yields declining from 2.7% at the end of 2018 to 2.0% at the end of June. In Canada, 10-year bond yields declined from 2.0% to 1.5%. Few economists had anticipated that magnitude of yield decline, and it aided equity markets as investors searched for return in a new lower-for-longer interest rate scenario.

The Fund's holdings consist of six Canadian banks. Top individual contributors to the Fund's performance included The Toronto-Dominion Bank, National Bank of Canada and Royal Bank of Canada, which added 281 basis points ("bps"), 253 bps and 252 bps, respectively, to performance.

The weakest relative performers were Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce (+64 bps), Bank of Nova Scotia (+85 bps) and Bank of Montreal (+201 bps).

The Fund underperformed the benchmark for the period.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Equity markets are currently trading close to all-time highs, yet there are a number of concerns and economic data points that lead us to be cautious in our outlook. Economic data continues to soften, which has been reflected in central banks around the world adopting a more cautious stance. Revenue and earnings growth both continue to slow. The recent inversion of the yield curve is also important given that every recession going back to the 1970s has been preceded by an inverted yield curve.

Effective April 29, 2019, First Asset ETFs were rebranded as CI First Asset ETFs.

On July 1, 2019, First Asset Investment Management Inc. amalgamated with CI Investments Inc. ("CI"). After the amalgamation, members of the Independent Review Committee ("IRC") of the CI family of funds also became members of the First Asset Funds' IRC (together, the "CI Funds IRC"). Previous members of the First Asset Funds' IRC resigned on June 30, 2019.

Notes:

(1) This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited semi-annual and audited annual financial statements. The term "net assets" used in this report and the term "net assets attributable to holders of redeemable securities" used in the Fund's financial statements are interchangeable.

(2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of securities outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of securities outstanding over the financial period.

(3) Distributions were paid in cash.

(4) This is not a reconciliation of the beginning and ending net assets per security.

(5) This information is provided as at June 30, 2019 and December 31 of the year shown.

(6) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund in which the Fund has invested and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

(7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively Portfolio Advisor manages the Fund's portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

(8) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period, including the Fund's proportionate share of such expenses of any underlying fund in which the Fund has invested.

(9) Closing market price.
